COUNCIL OPENS BIDS FOR FIRE FIGHTING EQUIPMENT AT LAST NIGHT'S SESSION; MUCH OTHER BUSINESS IS TRANSACTED

Committee Recommends Wall Up Cemetery Hill And Millage For 1922 Is Fixed At 17 1/2 Mills, Same As Last Year—Want Nuisance Or Street Obstruction Ordinance Enforced.

VALUATION OF BOROUGH IS $3,208,934

The regular session of the Town Council held at the Borough building last evening and presided over by President of Council Rosser proved to be rather a strenuous gathering, lasting well along toward 11 o'clock. The principal business before the house was the opening of bids for a dump truck for the Highway Department and two pieces of apparatus for the Fire Department.

Ten of the twelve members of Council and Burgess Kittelberger were present, while there were so many fire apparatus and truck men on hands that it taxed the capacity of the room.

Annex Gulch Avenue Property
The Ordinance providing for the annexation to the borough of a section of Lawrence township property situated along Gulch avenue was presented to Council and unanimously adopted. This annexation extends the borough line from the E. C. Davis property south to the Shaw cemetery.

Encroaching On West Front Street
Report was made to Council of the Engineer's survey of West Front street, which showed that the garage now being erected by Hiram Schiefer extended something more than one foot over the street line. The Solicitor was directed to begin injunction proceedings against Mr. Schiefer and have the buildings removed, the President and Secretary of Council being authorized to sign the necessary papers therefor.

Want Sewer Connection
A. A. Read and A. H. Bowers, whose properties adjoin the Borough in the Paradise section, were before Council for permission to connect the sewers from their residences with the Borough sewers. A resolution of Council passed in 1919 forbids such connection and the property owners were informed they would have to have their properties annexed to the borough before they could have the benefit of the Borough sewers.

Not So Worse
A committee of colored men from Wrigley Addition, of which Gus Tyson was chairman, was present to combat what was said by another delegation of colored folks which appeared before Council some time ago and asked to have run out of the community certain members of their race who were getting into police and quarter session court too promiscuously. Spokesman Tyson appeared to be of the opinion that they had referred to all the colored people down that way, but was informed that only those who violated the law were included. He thought all races possessed a few "bad eggs," and admitted some of the colored folks down his way "acne got scrambled" occasionally.

Favor Building Retaining Wall
Chairman Gulich of the Committee to meet with Cemetery company representatives regarding the building of a retaining wall up Cemetery Hill reported that the committees had agreed upon a plan for such proposed improvement and recommended that the Borough pay $1200 of the cost of same.

Sewer Building Progressing
Chairman Jay of Sewer Committee reported the Fifth street sanitary sewer about completed and work progressing satisfactorily upon the Ogden Avenue extension.

Opening of Streets Cause Trouble
Ed Viehdoerfer was present and asked for information concerning the proposed Linden street sewer and was informed that a permit for such sewer had been requested of the State Health Department and the Sewer could not be built before that permit was received.

WILL SNOOP INTO CANDIDATES' CACHE

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16.—(U.P.)—Contents of the cellars of candidates, running for office on the dry ticket this fall, will be investigated by the ward committee of the Pennsylvania Division of the Association Against Prohibition, according to Loyal D. Odner, state committee organizer for the association. "One of the purposes of the ward and county committees," Odner said "will be to strike a blow at the wide spread prohibition hypocrisy among office holders and candidates for office who vote for the dry ticket with one hand and drink booze with the other. Many of these placid gentlemen have cellars well stocked with liquor—we are going to list these cellars where possible and hand out the news to the voters. Since prohibition the weeds of hypocrisy have been flourishing in this country, and we are going to kill the weeds at the roots with the stellar rays of publicity."

Complaint was made regarding the condition of many of the paved streets in town due to the opening of such streets for putting in sewers, repairing steam and gas lines and it was decided that a permit for street opening be prepared, same to contain specifications for such opening and replacing of street, and that all persons desiring to open the streets for any such purpose be required to open such permit.

Open Bids For Truck and Fire Apparatus Opened
Bids were opened for a dump truck for street work and for a combination chemical and hose wagon and triple combination gasoline pumper. There were about one dozen bids for each and the lot was turned over to the Property Committee for investigation and recommendation as to what should be purchased at next meeting of Council on Monday, June 5th.

Millage Same As Last Year
The Finance Committee recommended that the tax millage for borough purposes be the same as last year and an Ordinance was passed fixing the millage for 1922 as follows:—General Borough fund, 9 mills; Bond fund, 6 1/4 mills; Light and Water fund, 2 1/2 mills. The Finance Committee also reported the total valuation of the Borough for taxing purposes to be $3,208,934. This total is made up as follows:

First Ward—$1,052,920.
Second Ward—$1,154,895.
Third Ward—$562,529.
Fourth Ward—$438,590.
Want Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks Cleaned Up
Numerous complaints having been received by different Councilmen concerning the dumping of ashes on streets and alleys, allowing automobiles, wagons, lumber, etc., to be stored promiscuously thereon and the practice of many merchants in blocking the sidewalks with their goods, stands and other stuff, Council directed the Burgess to have strictly enforced the Borough Ordinance made to prevent such nuisances.

Burgess Kittelberger, who had left the room returned about this time and when acquainted with the desire of Council in this regard, stated that he had also received numerous complaints of this character and would direct the police to enforce the Ordinance. Under the ordinance in question a store keeper is not allowed to occupy the sidewalk with his wares or display racks or cases to a greater distance than within forty-two inches of his property or building line and nothing is allowed to be placed on the outside of the walls.

BETHLEHEM-LACKAWANNA STEEL MERGER APPROVED

New York, May 16.—The Bethlehem-Lackawanna steel merger was approved today by directors of the two companies meeting here at the offices of Kuhn, Loeb & Company, bankers financing the consolidation. According to the terms of the merger as stated by Moses Taylor, Chairman of the Lackawanna board of directors, the Bethlehem Steel Company has agreed to assume all the debts and obligations of the Lackawanna Steel Company. The purchase price, Taylor said, is $35,108,500.

President Grace, of the Bethlehem Steel Company, announced that his company plans to spend from $15,000,000 to $25,000,000 on the Lackawanna properties. He further announced that the Bethlehem Steel Company's directors had approved of all the terms and conditions of the consolidation. The necessary steps for placing the matter before the stockholders for consideration have been taken, he said.

THREATEN TO BOMB FEDERAL ACTION POLISH CONSULATE FOR PRICE RAISER

Washington, D. C., May 16.—The Federal Government will take action against coal operators who have made undue increases in the price of coal since the beginning of the coal strike. President Harding believes that there is no justification for such charges and that it is merely a small buying panic which is responsible for the increase in price. The Government will act through Secretary of Commerce Hoover, it was stated, but just what action is contemplated was not revealed.

Never Even Cracked One Single Bottle

Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y., May 16.—An airplane laden with liquor from Montreal crashed on a farm near here last night. The rum flying pilot escaped with minor injuries and fled in an automobile. One hundred and fifty quarts of Scotch were found in the ruins. Authorities believe they were close to the base in a new liquor smuggling plot to transport liquor across the border.

FRENCH NAVY WILL INCREASE EXPENSE

Paris, France, May 16.—France will spend 325,000,000 francs more on her navy next year than this. The national budget for 1923 was distributed to Deputies in the Chamber by Count Delasteyrie, Minister of Finance. The increase in naval appropriations was the most striking feature of the budget.

Miss Marian Underwood has returned from spending the week-end as the guest of Miss Vivian Livingston at Bucknell University.

Miss Thelma Thompson is home from Altoona to spend a few weeks with her mother, Mrs. Harry Flaherty.

Pennsylvania Girl Is Loyal To Her Friend

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16.—(U.P.)—Correspondence received from Turkey at the local branch of the Near East Relief, Broad and Locust Streets tells of a Pennsylvania Nurse who gave up a chance to get home to nurse another American girl who was stricken with typhus.

The nurse is Miss Elizabeth Morgan of Wilkes-Barre, and the patient is Miss Edith L. Wood, of this city. To reach her patient the nurse who had looked forward to returning here after two years of relief work in Turkey, was compelled to tramp alone over snow covered and bandit infested mountains.

Miss Morgan went through a harrowing experience about six months ago, when passing through the foothills of the Taurus Mountains on her way to a relief center. Suddenly several brigands sprang upon her. She screamed, bravely battling with them until her cries brought aid from a nearby house.

In the encounter she was slashed across the wrist with a knife. Articles of which she was robbed by the brigands were recovered when she identified as her assailants three men who had been captured by Turkish troops. The brigands were tried by a military court and sentenced to three years' each.

MEMORIAL TO OUR PENNA. SOLDIERS

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16.—(U.P.)—Plans for the erection in France of a permanent memorial to Pennsylvania soldiers who lost their lives during the World War will be started soon by Col. Theodore Boal, who has just sailed for Europe. Col. Boal was an aide to Major General Muir of the Twenty-eighth Division during the war, is a member of the committee named by Governor Sproul to arrange the memorial.

MOST IMPORTANT PRIMARY IN YEARS IS MARKED BY BIG VOTE THRUOUT STATE; ALTER AND PINCHOT BOTH CLAIM VICTORY

Both Sides Working To Get Out Record Vote, While Reports Of Deflection Of Organization Workers In Philadelphia Causes Uneasiness In State Administration Leaders' Camp.

CLEARFIELD POLLS LIGHT VOTE SO FAR LIGHT VOTE AT NOON IN CLEARFIELD

There did not appear to be very much interest or activity about the polls locally during the forenoon. At 1:30 this afternoon but 590 votes of all the parties had been polled. This vote was located in the different wards as follows:

First Ward	190
Second Ward	170
Third Ward	90
Fourth Ward	55

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16.—The heaviest primary vote in many years was forecast today as Pennsylvania went to the polls to settle the fight for state control between the regular state organization and an independent wing of the Republican party. Both camps concentrated on getting out the vote. All over the state elaborate plans have been worked out in advance for getting the voters to the polls. Special attention has been paid to getting out the women's vote, which it is realized might become the determining factor. Both camps worked up to the very last minute with Alter and Pinchot setting the example. Alter swung back to his home in Springdale, near Pittsburgh today, after finishing the campaign in Schuylkill County yesterday. Pinchot, at his home in Milford, Pike County, addressed his fellow townsmen last evening. Headquarters of the two candidates continue to put out claims of victory by safe margins.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 16.—Allegheny County's three headlines on the political stage voted early today. George E. Alter, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, cast his ballot in the old school house in Springdale at 9:30 o'clock. D. A. Reed, candidate for the United States Senate, voted at 9 A. M. in the seventh district of the seventh ward, and William J. Burke, opposing George Wharton Pepper for United States Senator, voted shortly after 10 o'clock in the eleventh district of the twenty-second ward.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 16.—An unusually large early vote for a primary election was evident here. In mid-afternoon women voters were turning out in large numbers. The activities of the Alter organization were more noticeable in getting out the voters than the Pinchot wing.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16.—Thousands of Pennsylvania radio fans were tuning up to get election returns tonight by radio. A number of newspapers, department stores and other organizations in various parts of the state, have announced that they will broadcast the results of the voting. Radio parties at home will take the place of the old methods of getting returns of standing around a bulletin board or listening to bulletins read in the theatres.

Milford, Pa., May 16.—Immediately after voting at the polling place in Milford township, within sight of his home, Gifford Pinchot issued the following statement:

"To all Republican voters: Have you voted? This is the most important primary in a century. If you have not voted already will you do so? Let nothing keep you from the polls. The polls will be open this evening until seven o'clock, which means eight o'clock, daylight saving time. Vote and you will do your duty, but if you fail you will fail in your first duty as a citizen. You owe it to yourself as a citizen of Pennsylvania to vote."

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16.—Stirred to an unusual degree by weeks of bitter campaigning, Pennsylvania voters today set a new high record for a state-wide primary vote as they flocked to the polls in all quarters of the state. Among them were thousands of women, using their franchise for the first time in a state primary. Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Harrisburg, the three largest centers in the state, all reported heavy early hour voting. From the rural districts also came similar reports. State headquarters here for Gifford Pinchot said the heavy voting indicated an uprising against the state organization. The Alter headquarters also maintained that the organization workers everywhere were being successful in marshaling their forces. Pinchot and Alter both voted early, as also did George Wharton Pepper and William J. Burke. It was rumored that in the eighth ward, Penrose's old home district, that workers for ward leader Edwin A. Devlin, were distributing sample ballots to the voters marked for Pinchot.

SPLIT THREATENS IN RANKS OF MINERS

Muskogee, Oklahoma, May 16.—A split in the ranks of striking United Mine Workers through separate wage agreements threatened here today. Feeling in the convention of mine district No. 21, of Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas, was bitter as factions began a fight over a separate wage contract made at Bridgeport, Texas, wherein 300 miners accepted a decrease of fifty cents a day.

"A CONTEMPTIBLE ACT"

About 8:00 o'clock last evening the Reverend Dr. Reeve sat some boys acting suspiciously in the rear of the Sunday School Rooms of the Presbyterian Church, and upon investigation found that they had stolen the ice cream provided for the girls and boys who were having a class party in the evening. Fortunately it was discovered in time to supply the deficiency.

If the boys who committed this misdemeanor could be caught, six months in a reformatory would not be too great a punishment. If common decency is not instilled in them at home it would be well to send them where they will learn and consider twice before playing such a mean trick.

Brutal

During the regular pastor's summer vacation the sermons at the church were preached by well-known ministers from other churches. A list of coming attractions was posted in the vestibule. One morning, when making his announcements for the coming week, the day's incumbent mistook the slip containing the name of his immediate successor, but he supplied the information in this fashion: "On the way out you will find the preacher for next Sunday hanging up in the vestibule!"

A PRESBYTERIAN PARTY

The girls of Class 14 of the Presbyterian Sunday school together with a number of their girl and boy friends in all forty met in the recreation room of the Presbyterian Church last evening. Jane Groft and her amusement committee had prepared a very interesting program, which was beautifully carried out under the supervision of Miss Ethel Trostle, who very kindly consented to assist.

Some of the games were so very interesting and fascinating that even the invited guests, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Reeve, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil R. Bloom and Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Bridge all joined and enjoyed them. The boys cast wistful eyes at the dining room but were more than repaid when Pearl Rishell and her efficient assistants ushered them into an elaborately prepared and beautifully set luncheon. The theft of the ice cream did not dampen the enthusiasm of the refreshment committee, but fortunately a second supply of ice cream was forthcoming in ample time for the boys and girls to do justice to same.

The writer does not recollect when he has been to so delightful a party everyone entering into the spirit and each contributing to the general entertainment and amusement.

At midnight the boys and girls were all home, unless the beauty of the evening caused a long and secluded route, even the teacher caught the spirit and had the pleasure of escorting a girl home.

Great Poets

There have, of course, been many fine poets, writers of beautiful sentiments in beautiful numbers; but the supreme great poets may be counted on the fingers of the two hands. England and Scotland lead the world in great poets, having, perhaps, a half dozen, while the other countries can show hardly more than one each, and some of them not even one.

Milk Reduced to Twelve Cents Per Quart Starting May 16th

This price will remain effective for a short period of time during the summer months but will go back before fall. Milk at the present price is by far the cheapest food that the consumer buys. On the other hand milk is the least profitable of any commodity the farmer sells.

An economic problem confronts both the producer and the consumer. If the price of milk was lowered the producer would be compelled to go out of business. A scarcity would then force the price of the milk up. Milk must sell for a price that the producer will at least break even.

Do you know that:

The consumption of milk in the country averages one and a half pints per person, while in Clearfield it is slightly over one half pint to a person.

That one quart of milk is equal to four and three tenths eggs, as a source of protein and to eight and five tenths eggs or a pound of lean meat as a source of energy.

That milk at 16 cents per quart is as cheap a food as sirloin steak would be at 35.4 cents per pound, or eggs at 45 cents per dozen.

That to produce 100 pounds or 46 quarts of milk, it requires on an average 2.88 hours of labor, 33.5 pounds of grain, 45.3 pounds of hay, 11.5 pounds of other dry forage, 93.2 pounds of silage and 9.4 pounds of other succulent feed.

Almost one half the milk produced in the vicinity of Clearfield must be kept at home or sold at a sacrifice because of the drop in consumption. The price of milk does not warrant any drop in consumption when food values are compared. Increase in consumption would naturally make possible the lowering of the price of milk. Let the slogan be, USE MORE MILK AND HELP BOTH THE CONSUMER AND THE PRODUCER.

YOUTH OR MATURITY?

The question whether youth is to be preferred to a more mature period of life has furnished food for controversy from the earliest times, and fortunately, we are no nearer a final answer today than we were when Cicero glorified old age. For this is one of the few questions in which the impossibility of a definite solution need not deprive that parties to the controversy of any fun.

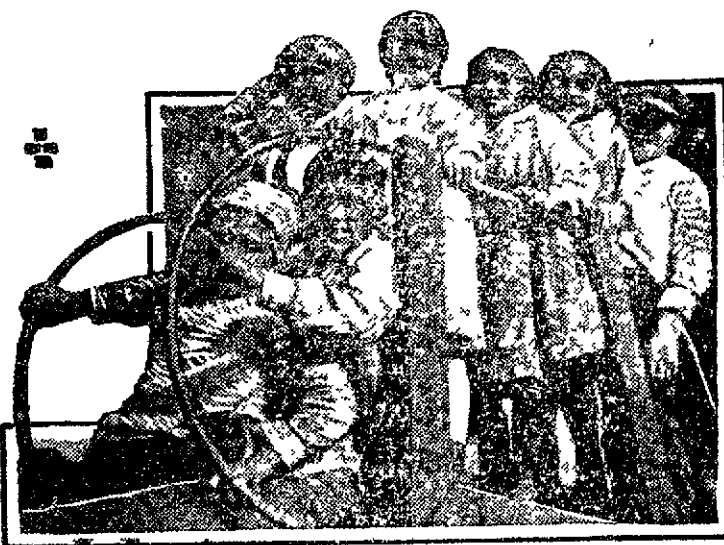

As a theme to inspire poets, youth has a shade the better of it over old age. The writers who laud the pleasures of the declining years of life seem to be somewhat on the defensive, as if they were rescuing old age from becoming considered a necessary although mild affliction. While those who tune their lyre to youth sing with the assurance of one who scents victory in the air. They tell us that for youth is still in the making, and that youth is free.

It is this last note on which a recent writer on the subject seizes in an effort to appraise the alleged freedom of youth. "Youth," he says, "is a time when one did what one didn't want to. One was helpless—much as in the army—one drifted through the years with bewilderment—often in a state of apprehension as to what was going to happen next. It is the time when the born bolt and nut manufacturer is obliged to study English poetry, when the inspired painter or musician is compelled to master Conic Sections. It is a period of introspective morbidity, of callow religious hysteria, of agonizing shyness."

The most delightful thing about this whole controversy is that anything that may be said on the subject is so tinged with personal feeling and reflects so much the individual's own experience that what may be true of him may still be wholly untrue in the case of another individual. Many grown-ups looking today at youth about them will wonder where anyone ever got the idea that these young people were afflicted with "agonizing shyness." And one may conceivably find many old people who will readily admit that if anything has got hold of youth about them it is not "calow religious hysteria."

Fortunately this theme will continue to invite writers and speakers of all sorts. We shall learn more and more about old age and youth; but unless the future is not to be interpreted by the past, every individual will gather his final solution to this question from his own personal experience.

AIDS SICK AND WOUNDED MEN

Mrs. Maud Cudworth, Milwaukee, Wis., is known to Legion Boys Throughout the Mid-West.

Sick and wounded service men of the World war undergoing treatment in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Kansas and Missouri know or are going to know before the year is out of Mrs. Maud Cudworth, Milwaukee, Wis., a national vice president of the American Legion Auxiliary.

It is the duty of local units of the Auxiliary in towns where ex-service men are in hospitals to keep the disabled men supplied with little comforts and delicacies not provided by the government. The women write letters to the patients, send them newspapers, books, magazines, fruit, bathrobes, bed sheets, candy, cigarettes and special articles that they desire. Under Mrs. Cudworth's supervision, as president of the national welfare committee of the Auxiliary, this work is being done in the middle western states over which she has supervision. Mrs. Cudworth personally visits disabled service men in the hospitals of her territory, hears their complaints and takes them up with the proper government officials.

A Legion post of 1,000 men in Milwaukee adopted Mrs. Cudworth as "Mother" because she lost her only son during the World War.

TWO KINDS OF PROFITEERS

Mrs. Henrietta Starkey, Le Sueur, Minn., Cited by Legion Boys as Most Valuable.

There were two kinds of profiteers during the war—one bad, the other good—the service men of Le Sueur, Minn., claim One of the latter lives in Le Sueur and wears a cannon-metal decoration for the work which she did during the war to aid the various drives and the service men. She is Mrs. Henrietta A. Starkey, owner of a moving picture theatre, whose constant willingness to throw open her doors to her amusement house for Liberty bond, Red Cross and other campaigns won her the plaudits of all and caused her bank account to diminish.

One of the things which Mrs. Starkey did to arouse war time morale was to show the pictures of all the boys from Le Sueur who were in the service—237 in all. Lights and heat in her theatre were all furnished gratis for war time community gatherings. The cost of the films which were of on shown at the Starkey theatre was borne by its proprietor and the funds to help the service men were augmented so much more.

Le Sueur Legionnaires hold Mrs. Starkey up as the annual who profited in their good will instead of cash.

GERMANY'S BIG LOSS IN WAR

Deaths Directly Traceable to the World Conflict Are Placed at About 12,000,000.

A study of the official records of the German war department shows that 46 men were killed and 109 wounded on the German side during every hour the World war raged. This estimate was arrived at after the archives had been probed by General Von Altrick one of the German "high command."

It is also stated in the same report that the Kaiser had a total of 13,000,000 men under arms during the war, of which 1,808,548 were either killed outright or died of wounds or sickness incident to their service. The largest figures are those of the number of Germans wounded which General Altrick places at 4,246,779.

German deaths, directly traceable to the war, are placed at about 12,000,000.

Carrying On With the American Legion

Farmers gave 200 trees and the village gave a lot to the Elizabethtown (Ind.) post of the Legion when it wanted a community home.

A "Gold Star" Legion organization, open to parents, sisters and brothers of men who gave their lives in the World war, has been proposed.

A total of $88,000,000 yearly renewable term and converted government insurance is being curried by ex-service men in the state of Washington.

War-time draft dodgers are prohibited from holding public office in New York state, a bill sponsored by the Legion to that effect having passed the general assembly.

Legion posts have been formed in Calcutta, India, New Zealand and Denmark, making a total of 11,050 posts located in practically every civilized country on the globe.

SELL GRAIN THROUGH CATTLE

Farmer Who Puts Feed Into Steers and Returns Manure to Land is One Who Succeeds.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

An investigation into methods and costs of beef production in the corn belt, conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture, covering three years, and 900 farms, shows interesting facts concerning the present status of the industry. The man who feeds cattle is marketing his crops as he feeds them, and, therefore, is justified in expecting a return equivalent to average market prices for the feeds. Even if he sometimes falls short of a return he has not necessarily experienced a loss. The corn belt farmer who sells grain sometimes receives more for his crop than the one who feeds it to cattle, but on the average, for a period of years, except in certain limited areas, the man who puts the feed into steers and returns the manure to the land is the one who comes out ahead. The conclusion is based on feeding in Iowa, Indiana, Illinois, Nebraska and Missouri.

The figures which contain the results of this investigation were obtained from a large number of farms and from several agricultural experiment stations in the Middle West. One phase of the work dealt with the cost of maintaining a herd of breeding cows for producing feeder cattle. It was found that feed represented 60 per cent of the cost of keeping a cow for one year, while the other 40 per cent was for interest, labor, equipment and incidentals.

SWINE FOR HOME SLAUGHTER

Members of Shipping Association in Indiana Solve Problem of Having Pork Supply.

Members of the live stock shipping associations in DeKalb county, Ind. have solved the problem of having fat hogs on hand just when they are ready to do their home butchering and the United States Department of Agriculture thinks the plan could be worked by other co-operatives. Many of the members of the association who do home butchering often found themselves with hogs ready for market or slaughter before the farmers were prepared for the work. Under these conditions they arrange with the manager of the association to ship their hogs to market at the time the animals are ready and later, when the farmers are prepared to butcher, they buy the desired number of hogs from the association on the regular shipping day. The hogs are sold to them for the net market price returned to the members contributing hogs to the shipment. This practice is in accordance to the members, as often a farmer who is raising hogs for home slaughter is not ready to butcher at the time the hogs are in best condition, and he is not prepared to feed them as long as he desires.

KING CORN DISCOVERS RIVAL

Experiments at Nebraska University Show Dried Sugar Beet Pulp is Valuable Feed.

Dried sugar beet pulp will soon become a real rival of corn in livestock feeding, declares the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

This statement is based on an experiment conducted by the college during which different rations were fed 12 lots of Utah lambs 31 to each lot, for 100 days, to determine the food value of the sugar-beet by product in comparison with some of the standard rations, such as corn and alfalfa or corn, alfalfa, and cottonseed cake.

The beet pulp fed lambs fed with a profit of $8.80 per head at the end of the period, while the corn and alfalfa fed lot showed a profit of only $1.83 a head. The experiment proved, furthermore, that either corn or dried beet pulp is necessary to produce a finished lamb.

Hog Harvesting Time.

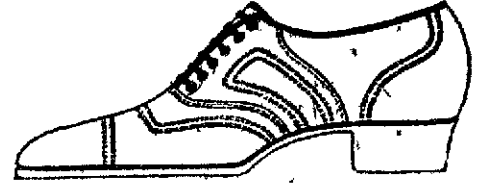

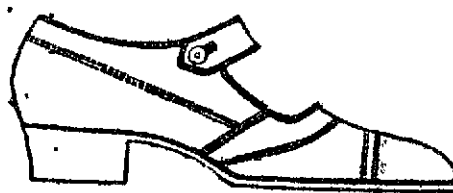

Farrowing time is harvest time in the hog business. Success at this time means live pigs that will quickly grow into cash, failure means dead pigs that will grow into an entry on the wrong side of the ledger.

Coconut Tree's Blossom.
The blossom of the coconut tree is not unlike a head of cauliflower and is esteemed very much as the "cabbage" of the cabbage palmetto, which grows to some extent in Florida. The coconut blossom is boiled or eaten raw with a salad dressing. From the blossom of the tree the natives also make a pleasant drink, soft when first made, but strongly intoxicating when fermented, and quite often is allowed to ferment. By one treatment of this flower-liquor it is also made into a native vinegar.

PITTSBURGH WILL INVOKE BLUE LAWS

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 16—(U.P.)—The blue laws of 1796 and that crime known as "disturbing a religious meeting" will be enforced in Pittsburgh during the baseball and football seasons, District Attorney Row and announced.

Rowand's order will put a stop to a great many baseball games unless managements are content to play with out "passing the hat." Voluntary contributions commercializes the sport and makes it unlawful, it was said.

Owing to vigorous protests by clergymen, no game of baseball or football will be permitted anywhere near a church or Sunday school.

Sunday golf or tennis at the various clubs, however, will not be disturbed on the ground that clubs are private property.

OLYMPIC CHAMP TO TEACH VOLLEY BALL

Under the heading "Volley ball—the Coming Game" the following paragraph occurs in the thirty-one page Bulletin of Information from the Recreation Department of Oakland, California, "Over 100 volleyball courts are fully equipped on the various playgrounds. Both men and women as well as children enjoy this sport. Many teams are organized among factory and office people and the Department is always willing to assist in organizing more teams as they are desired. Use of volleyball courts may be had by application to any playground. Regular instruction in volleyball is given all children during play periods at school."

Volleyball equipment has been ordered by Clearfield Community Service for each of the playgrounds and it is planned to have Mel Sheppard, the famous Olympic runner who is now an organizer for athletics with National Community Service, develop volleyball as an outdoor game in Clearfield. Sheppard will be here for two weeks from May 19th.

Majestic, World's Largest Ship, Makes Maiden Voyage

The New White Star Liner, as Large as 400 House s. Compared with a Liner of Twenty-five Years Ago

THE world's largest ship, the Majestic, a pas- senger liner of 56,000 gross tons, left Southamp- ton May 10 for New York on her maiden voyage. Ordinary folks on shore find it hard to realize the size of this last and greatest addition to the world's fleets. She is five times as large as the average big ocean steamship of 25 years ago, while her tonnage is as great as that of all the 132 ships in the historic Spanish Armada of 1583. Her interior space equals that of 400 ordinary 8-room houses, and she has 1,215 staterooms, besides great public rooms two stories high. Her length is 956 feet, her breadth 100 feet, and she is 102 feet deep from the captain's bridge to the keel. The Majestic's weight is 64,000 tons. If she were to hit an object when going only at five miles an hour the blow delivered would be equal to that of 14,500 Ford cars. Her horse power is 100,000, and her speed more than 25 knots, or nearly 30 statute miles an hour. She has capacity for 4,100 passengers and carries a crew of 1,600.

Pershing Praises Social Hygiene Board's Fight on Vice

Results of the government year. The money saving to the gov- ernment, saved through having to treat fewer men, is placed at $1,475,000 for this past year. Secretary of War Weeks and General Pershing have both praised the U. S. Interdepartmental Social Hygiene Board for its excellent work in lowering social disease rates and improving the health of the men in the army. "The importance of this work," said General Pershing, "can be realized when you know that social diseases constitute the main source of work for the medical branch of the army in peace time. I am particularly pleased with the thorough- ness of the work done at Camp Henning, Georgia, where the rate has been lowered from 149 to 27 per 1,000 men."

The secretary of the board, Dr. Valeria H. Parker, urges that more attention be paid by parents and in schools to teaching children the correct facts on sex. "Children learn these facts any- how," said Dr. Parker, "and they learn them in the worst manner possibly. Frequently their facts are entirely wrong. This leads to much trouble among both boys and girls and is responsible for much delin- quency in the youth of the nation. Much suffering misery and unhappi- ness will be eliminated, if parents will face these facts bravely and not try to dodge the responsibility."

MARY MARIE ELEANOR H. PORTER

WHEN "Just David" was published readers thought it the most adorable story of a child ever written; then appeared "Pollyanna" by the same authoress and it took the country by storm; now she has given us "Mary Marie," which is better than either.

This wonderful child was Mary to her staid, bookish, serious-minded father. To her vivacious, laughter-loving mother she was Marie; so they named her Mary Marie, and to keep peace in the family she had to develop a dual nature in keeping with the two names.

WOODLAND BOY GETS PROMOTION

The following named officer who served with distinction during the World War has recently been assigned to the 396th Infantry which is being organized in this county. This organization is a part of the 99th Division and the assignment of officers to this organization is being rapidly completed. If Congress appropriates the money for the camp this summer, the 99th Division will go to Camp Meade, Maryland for a 15 day training period from August 6th to 20th. If Congress does not appropriate funds for this camp all reserve officers who desire to do so at their own expense will go to camp from July 26 to 16th.

The 99th Division being a new division is not as far advanced in its organization as some of the organizations which have served as such during the World War. It is hoped within a short time, however, to bring this division to such a state of organization that it may properly represent western Pennsylvania.

JORDAN'S

COMMERCIAL CLUB HEARS FINE TALK

Mr. Gregory C. Kelly, of Philadelphia, Pa., General Manager Pennsylvania Compensation Rating & Inspection Bureau, spoke to the Clearfield Commercial Club at their regular meeting last night, and gave the members some illuminating side lights on the matter of industrial accidents and the Bureau's method of making rates to cover the same. He stated that time was an essential in properly gauging the risks and thereby determining the rates and that as time went on, the Bureau had found themselves able to make some decided reductions in the estimated rates applying when compensation was first put into effect in this State. Mr. Kelly expressed great pleasure at meeting the live bunch of business men of the club. He left by automobile for Tyrone, immediately after the meeting, in order to catch a fast train for Philadelphia.

Martin's Susquehanna Orchestra furnished the music and added greatly to the pleasure of the evening. Nearly 80 members and guests were present and among matters of business, the Election Committee reported on nomination for candidates for Directors. Ballots were passed and the election resulted in the following directors being selected: Wm. Bigler, Harry Evans, Paul T. Flaharty, Dr. J. P. Frantz, A. M. Pearce, Dr. L. F. Stewart, S. L. Warner.

Announcement was made of a joint meeting with the Rotary Club at the Dimeling at 7:00 o'clock next Monday evening, May 22nd to hear Mr. J. Edw. Rogers.

The Club voted approving the Clearfield Fire Department's inviting the Fireman's District Convention to meet in Clearfield in 1923.

A "paint up" campaign was discussed and recommended with the idea of preservation and beautifying the city.

President Warner gave the American Legion baseball team a boost and asked the Club members to get behind the team and lend their efforts to boost a good thing along, remarking that whatever the Legion attempted was worthy of a boost from the Commercial Club.

Two new members, R. J. Knipe and E. J. Holden, were voted favorably upon and the Club members were invited to lend their aid in every possible way to the Community Service activities inasmuch as the Club had unanimously endorsed the movement at their meeting April 18 and should therefore support and work for it.

A communication was received (?) from new member, Ralph Jordan, requesting permission to pass around the cigars, it being Jordan's first meeting as a member. Unanimous action was immediately taken and everybody "smoked" up at Jordan's expense.

The attendance prize, given by Mr. John E. Hess was won by Mr. Walter McMurray. Mac will probably donate a latte or drill press for the next meeting.

YOU'LL VOTE FOR OUR CIGARS

Anyone who is a smoker will vote for the good quality of our cigars and give them a great majority inasmuch as they are the best cigars that you can find anywhere for the money.

Get behind one, you smokers, and see how much you'll enjoy them.

Finds Child Labor Law Is Unconstitutional

Washington, May 15.—The child labor law was declared unconstitutional today by the Supreme Court. The law enacted in 1919 was intended to regulate employment of children in any mill, tannery, workshop, factory or manufacturing establishment under the age of 14 or in any mine or quarry under 16 by imposing an excise tax of 10 per cent on the net annual profits of those employing such labor. It was attacked on the ground that it attempted to regulate an exclusive state function in violation of the constitution and was defined as a mere excise tax levied by Congress.

The opinion was delivered by Chief Justice Taft with no dissent announced.

Washington, D. C., May 16.—Thousands of children, sixteen years of age and younger soon will be back at work in sweat shops, mines and other places throughout the country as the result of the Supreme Court's ruling that the Child Labor Act is invalid. Big employers, particularly those in the southern cotton mills region were expected to take immediate action on the decision. Child labor is still desirable, despite the ten per cent collected since 1913 on the products of such labor hundreds of factories and mills have continued to employ children.

SERUM WILL PROTECT SWINE

Erroneous Impression Prevails That Hog Cholera Will Be Eradicated in Few Years.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The impression that hog cholera is a disease that will be eliminated before many years through the use of anti-hog-cholera serum has been spread throughout the country, but there is little ground for such a belief, says the United States Department of Agriculture. The serum treatment, when properly given, will protect hogs against the disease, but it does not go to the source and eliminate the germs from the country, which would be necessary if hog cholera is to become a thing of the past. It might be possible to eliminate the disease if every hog in the United States could be kept immunized all of the time, but such a measure would be impractical, if not impossible.

Hog cholera is of varying prevalence, both as to the time of the year and as to periods of several years. In the fall—October and November—there is more of this disease than in the other months. The number of hogs per thousand affected by it changes greatly from year to year, also. There have been years, such as 1887, 1897 and 1913, when cholera raged throughout the corn belt, causing great losses to farmers. In the years intervening between these high points the losses were relatively low.

Since 1913 hog cholera has been but slightly prevalent as compared with the worst years, but there is no assurance that other great waves of the disease will not occur as they did before serum was used. It has been but eight years since the last high point in losses from cholera, and the records of the Department of Agriculture show that the period between the high points of prevalence is usually 10 years or longer.

This fall there are reports of increased losses from cholera, but some increase is to be expected every fall.

Farmer Should Immunize Every Hog on First Suspicion of Cholera.

The fact that farm products have brought smaller returns in recent months has no doubt caused less serum to be bought, and many farmers have lost their herds when they might have saved them. Perhaps they could not have prevented the occurrence of the disease, but they could have prevented the hogs from dying of it.

Getting rid of hog cholera is not a simple matter, which may be appreciated when it is remembered that the infection has been carried to all parts of the United States and that the ways in which it spreads are probably not all thoroughly known. It may be many a long year before this plague of the swine industry is eliminated. The best thing to be done now is for each farmer to keep close watch over his herd, and on the first suspicion of the disease immunize every hog.

Some men now consider immunization against hog cholera as one of the regular expenses of pork production and have it done every year. They realize that it is not a cure, but only a prevention against loss. Even when serum is used there is sometimes a loss, but in nearly all cases the method is very successful. It is the only dependable means available for preventing losses from hog cholera.

Easy to Make Runts.

It is easy to make runts out of well-bred pigs by not feeding the sow well. A brood sow should receive, therefore, all the concentrates she will clean up as soon as the pigs are large enough to take the milk.

Balanced Feed for Cattle.

Corn alone is excellent for fattening cattle. Add to it, say, 10 to 20 per cent of its weight in linseed meal, cottonseed meal or tankage, and you get a ration that is still better balanced. Or feed the corn with oats and alfalfa, instead of all corn stalks and other roughage.

Time to Buy Sheep.

The present price of wool and mutton is so far out of proportion to the present price of sheep that it looks like now is the time to buy sheep.

The American Legion

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

LEGION WOMAN, MOTHER OF 21

Mrs. Jacob Caranek, Healthy and Happy, Holds Record Among Producers of Americans.

Mrs. Jacob Caranek, who runs a neat little grocery store in New Orleans and therein sells butter and eggs, bread, meats, canned corn and maybe the necessities for making those delicious Southern pecan candies, is also a legion mother of the American Legion Auxiliary. She is, at least, until some one comes along who is the mother of 22 children, to beat Mrs. Caranek's 21.

A child had come to Mrs. Caranek's house each year for 21 years when America entered the World war. Which of the 21 was dearest to her she herself could not tell, but when the two eldest boys, Joseph and Louis, went away to war the large Caranek family was cast into shadow. "What else should I do?" Mrs. Caranek questioned. "They are Americans and their country needs them. If it is a duty to raise children, it is right to make them love their country." But when Joseph and Louis came home—Joseph served overseas with the Rainbow division and fought in four big battles, while Louis fought in and around Camp Beauregard—the little grocery store could scarce contain the joyful celebration.

Mrs. Caranek came to America when she was fifteen years old, leaving her native village of Petravice in Czechoslovakia. She is forty-seven years old now and her husband is fifty-eight. The youngest child is six years old and the oldest twenty-eight. Mrs. Caranek has been to but one motion picture show in her life and she left before that one was over. She works from five in the morning until ten at night in her grocery. And she hasn't a gray hair and has never been sick but once and enjoys life.

NAMED FOR THE COMMANDER

Legion Member Pays Honor to New Son and the Leader of the American Organization.

Since the first time that America had a war, babies have come into the world named for a great or favorite general. The namesakes of Gen. George Washington are still numerous; those of Robert E. Lee and U. S. Grant are going strong into the second generation and there are not a few John J. Pershing Smiths and Joneses to vie with the less recent Deweys and Teddy Roosevelts.

One service man of the American Legion has, however, started the naming of babies after the national commander of the Legion of the year in which the child was born. The first on record is young Hanford Morris, Atlanta, Ga., born a few days after Hanford MacNider, Mason City, Ia., was elected national commander of the Legion. His father, Albert R. Morris, is a member of Atlanta post No. 1 of the Legion.

Recently an ex-soldier of Chicago went into court and asked to be allowed to drop his middle name, which was unpronounceable, he declared. The court gave permission and the service man, an enthusiastic Legionnaire, chose the name of Legion to accompany him through life.

Legion Post Stages "Movies"

To satisfy curiosity-hounds, the Hollywood (Cal.) post of the American Legion stages a "model movie" every week. This saves wear and tear on the nerves of the people in Movieland, and at the same time gives tourists a view of how movies are made. Real reel directors, cameras, and stars are used in the model exhibitions—but the Legion does the work.

Consider "Star" Flag an Insult.

The idea, conceived by the W. C. T. U., of putting star flags in windows of homes where no liquor is consumed, is protested by an American Legion post in San Francisco, composed entirely of newspaper men. The Legion men claim that the liquor star flag is an atrocious plagiarism of the service flag of war days, and that it is an insult to all former service men.

To Halt "Fake" Money-Raising.

In an effort to stamp out the sale of publications by ex-service men who allege that the money derived is going to be used for the benefit of sick and wounded ex-service men, the American Legion national offices have warned its 11,000 posts not to sanction any sale of periodicals until the Chamber of Commerce or some like civic organization has first approved.

VALUATION OF BOROUGH IS $3,208,934

The regular session of the Town Council held at the Borough building last evening and presided over by President of Council Rosser proved to be rather a strenuous gathering, lasting well along toward 11 o'clock. The principal business before the house was the opening of bids for a dump truck for the Highway Department and two pieces of apparatus for the Fire Department.

Ten of the twelve members of Council and Burgess Kittelberger were present, while there were so many fire apparatus and truck men on hands that it taxed the capacity of the room.

Annex Gulch Avenue Property
The Ordinance providing for the annexation to the borough of a section of Lawrence township property situated along Gulch avenue was presented to Council and unanimously adopted. This annexation extends the borough line from the E. C. Davis property south to the Shaw cemetery.

Encroaching On West Front Street
Report was made to Council of the Engineer's survey of West Front street, which showed that the garage now being erected by Hiram Schiefer extended something more than one foot over the street line. The Solicitor was directed to begin injunction proceedings against Mr. Schiefer and have the buildings removed, the President and Secretary of Council being authorized to sign the necessary papers therefore.

Want Sewer Connection
A. A. Read and A. H. Bowers, whose properties adjoin the Borough in the Paradise section, were before Council for permission to connect the sewers from their residences with the Borough sewers. A resolution of Council passed in 1919 forbids such connection and the property owners were informed they would have to have their properties annexed to the borough before they could have the benefit of the Borough sewers.

Not So Wore
A committee of colored men from Wrigley Addition, of which Gus Tyson was chairman, was present to combat what was said by another delegation of colored folks which appeared before Council some time ago and asked to have run out of the community certain members of their race who were getting into police and quarter session court too promiscuously. Spokesman Tyson appeared to be of the opinion that they had referred to all the colored people down that way, but was informed that only those who violated the law were included. He thought all races possessed a few "bad eggs," and admitted some of the colored folks down his way "acne got scrambled" occasionally.

Favor Building Retaining Wall
Chairman Gulich of the Committee to meet with Cemetery company representatives regarding the building of a retaining wall up Cemetery Hill reported that the committees had agreed upon a plan for such proposed improvement and recommended that the Borough pay $1200 of the cost of same.

Sewer Building Progressing
Chairman Jay of Sewer Committee reported the Fifth street sanitary sewer about completed and work progressing satisfactorily upon the Ogden Avenue extension.

Ed Viehdoerfer was present and asked for information concerning the proposed Linden street sewer and was informed that a permit for such sewer had been requested of the State Health Department and the Sewer could not be built before that permit was received.

Opening of Streets Cause Trouble

WILL SNOOP INTO CANDIDATES' CACHE

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16.—(U.P.)—Contents of the cellars of candidates, running for office on the dry ticket this fall, will be investigated by the ward committee of the Pennsylvania Division of the Association Against Prohibition, according to Loyal D. Odner, state committee organizer for the association.

"One of the purposes of the ward and county committees," Odner said "will be to strike a blow at the wide spread prohibition hypocrisy among office holders and candidates for office who vote for the dry ticket with one hand and drink booze with the other. Many of these placid gentlemen have cellars well stocked with liquor—we are going to list these cellars where possible and hand out the news to the voters. Since prohibition the weeds of hypocrisy have been flourishing in this country, and we are going to kill the weeds at the roots with the stellar rays of publicity."

Complaint was made regarding the condition of many of the paved streets in town due to the opening of such streets for putting in sewers, repairing steam and gas lines and it was decided that a permit for street opening be prepared, same to contain specifications for such opening and replacing of street, and that all persons desiring to open the streets for any such purpose be required to open such permit.

Open Bids For Truck and Fire Apparatus Opened

Bids were opened for a dump truck for street work and for a combination chemical and hose wagon and triple combination gasoline pumper. There were about one dozen bids for each and the lot was turned over to the Property Committee for investigation and recommendation as to what should be purchased at next meeting of Council on Monday, June 5th.

Millage Same As Last Year

The Finance Committee recommended that the tax millage for borough purposes be the same as last year and an Ordinance was passed fixing the millage for 1922 as follows:—General Borough fund, 9 mills; Bond fund, 6 1/4 mills; Light and Water fund, 2 1/2 mills. The Finance Committee also reported the total valuation of the Borough for taxing purposes to be $3,208,934. This total is made up as follows:

First Ward—$1,052,920.
Second Ward—$1,154,895.
Third Ward—$562,529.
Fourth Ward—$438,590.

Want Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks Cleaned Up

Numerous complaints having been received by different Councilmen concerning the dumping of ashes on streets and alleys, allowing automobiles, wagons, lumber, etc., to be stored promiscuously thereon and the practice of many merchants in blocking the sidewalks with their goods, stands and other stuff, Council directed the Burgess to have strictly enforced the Borough Ordinance made to prevent such nuisances. Burgess Kittelberger, who had left the room returned about this time and when acquainted with the desire of Council in this regard, stated that he had also received numerous complaints of this character and would direct the police to enforce the Ordinance. Under the ordinance in question a store keeper is not allowed to occupy the sidewalk with his wares or display racks or cases to a greater distance than within forty-two inches of his property or building line and nothing is allowed to be placed on the outside of the walls.

BETHLEHEM-LACKAWANNA STEEL MERGER APPROVED

New York, May 16.—The Bethlehem-Lackawanna steel merger was approved today by directors of the two companies meeting here at the offices of Kuhn, Loeb & Company, bankers financing the consolidation. According to the terms of the merger as stated by Moses Taylor, Chairman of the Lackawanna board of directors, the Bethlehem Steel Company has agreed to assume all the debts and obligations of the Lackawanna Steel Company. The purchase price, Taylor said, is $35,108,500.

President Grace, of the Bethlehem Steel Company, announced that his company plans to spend from $15,000,000 to $25,000,000 on the Lackawanna properties. He further announced that the Bethlehem Steel Company's directors had approved of all the terms and conditions of the consolidation. The necessary steps for placing the matter before the stockholders for consideration have been taken, he said.

THREATEN TO BOMB FEDERAL ACTION POLISH CONSULATE FOR PRICE RAISER

Washington, D. C., May 16.—(U.P.)—The Federal Government will take action against coal operators who have made undue increases in the price of coal since the beginning of the coal strike. President Harding believes that there is no justification for such charges and that it is merely a small buying panic which is responsible for the increase in price. The Government will act through Secretary of Commerce Hoover, it was stated, but just what action is contemplated was not revealed.

Never Even Cracked One Single Bottle

Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y., May 16.—An airplane laden with liquor from Montreal crashed on a farm near here last night. The rum flying pilot escaped with minor injuries and fled in an automobile. One hundred and fifty quarts of Scotch were found in the ruins. Authorities believe they were close to the base in a new liquor smuggling plot to transport liquor across the border.

FRENCH NAVY WILL INCREASE EXPENSE

Paris, France, May 16.—France will spend 325,000,000 francs more on her navy next year than this. The national budget for 1923 was distributed to Deputies in the Chamber by Count Delasteyrie, Minister of Finance. The increase in naval appropriations was the most striking feature of the budget.

Miss Marian Underwood has returned from spending the week-end as the guest of Miss Vivian Livingston at Bucknell University.

Miss Thelma Thompson is home from Altoona to spend a few weeks with her mother, Mrs. Harry Flaherty.

Pennsylvania Girl Is Loyal To Her Friend

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16.—(U.P.)—Correspondence received from Turkey at the local branch of the Near East Relief, Broad and Locust Streets tells of a Pennsylvania Nurse who gave up a chance to get home to nurse another American girl who was stricken with typhus.

The nurse is Miss Elizabeth Morgan of Wilkes-Barre, and the patient is Miss Edith L. Wood, of this city. To reach her patient the nurse who had looked forward to returning here after two years of relief work in Turkey, was compelled to tramp alone over snow covered and bandit infested mountains.

Miss Morgan went through a harrowing experience about six months ago, when passing through the foothills of the Taurus Mountains on her way to a relief center. Suddenly several brigands sprang upon her. She screamed, bravely battling with them until her cries brought aid from a nearby house.

In the encounter she was slashed across the wrist with a knife. Articles of which she was robbed by the brigands were recovered when she identified as her assailants three men who had been captured by Turkish troops. The brigands were tried by a military court and sentenced to three years' each.

MEMORIAL TO OUR PENNA. SOLDIERS

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16.—(U.P.)—Plans for the erection in France of a permanent memorial to Pennsylvania soldiers who lost their lives during the World War will be started soon by Col. Theodore Boal, who has just sailed for Europe. Col. Boal was an aide to Major General Muir of the Twenty-eighth Division during the war, is a member of the committee named by Governor Sproul to arrange the memorial.

CLEARFIELD POLLS LIGHT VOTE SO FAR LIGHT VOTE AT NOON IN CLEARFIELD

There did not appear to be very much interest or activity about the polls locally during the forenoon. At 1:30 this afternoon but 590 votes of all the parties had been polled. This vote was located in the different wards as follows:

First Ward	190
Second Ward	170
First Precinct	170
Second Precinct	60
Third Ward	90
First Precinct	90
Second Precinct	56
Fourth Ward	56

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16.—The heaviest primary vote in many years was forecast today as Pennsylvania went to the polls to settle the fight for state control between the regular state organization and an independent wing of the Republican party. Both camps concentrated on getting out the vote. All over the state elaborate plans have been worked out in advance for getting the voters to the polls. Special attention has been paid to getting out the women's vote, which it is realized might become the determining factor. Both camps worked up to the very last minute with Alter and Pinchot setting the example. Alter swung back to his home in Springdale, near Pittsburgh today, after finishing the campaign in Schuylkill County yesterday. Pinchot, at his home in Milford, Pike County, addressed his fellow townsmen last evening. Headquarters of the two candidates continue to put out claims of victory by safe margins.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 16.—Allegheny County's three headlines on the political stage voted early today. George E. Alter, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, cast his ballot in the old school house in Springdale at 9:30 o'clock. D. A. Reed, candidate for the United States Senate, voted at 9 A. M. in the seventh district of the seventh ward, and William J. Burke, opposing George Wharton Pepper for United States Senator, voted shortly after 10 o'clock in the eleventh district of the twenty-second ward.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 16.—An unusually large early vote for a primary election was evident here. In mid-afternoon women voters were turning out in large numbers. The activities of the Alter organization were more noticeable in getting out the voters than the Pinchot wing.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16.—Thousands of Pennsylvania radio fans were tuning up to get election returns tonight by radio. A number of newspapers, department stores and other organizations in various parts of the state, have announced that they will broadcast the results of the voting. Radio parties at home will take the place of the old methods of getting returns of standing around a bulletin board or listening to bulletins read in the theatres.

Milford, Pa., May 16.—Immediately after voting at the polling place in Milford township, within sight of his home, Gifford Pinchot issued the following statement:

"To all Republican voters: Have you voted? This is the most important primary in a century. If you have not voted already will you do so? Let nothing keep you from the polls. The polls will be open this evening until seven o'clock, which means eight o'clock, daylight saving time. Vote and you will do your duty, but if you fail you will fail in your first duty as a citizen. You owe it to yourself as a citizen of Pennsylvania to vote."

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16.—Stirred to an unusual degree by weeks of bitter campaigning, Pennsylvania voters today set a new high record for a state-wide primary vote as they flocked to the polls in all quarters of the state. Among them were thousands of women, using their franchise for the first time in a state primary. Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Harrisburg, the three largest centers in the state, all reported heavy early hour voting. From the rural districts also came similar reports. State headquarters here for Gifford Pinchot said the heavy voting indicated an uprising against the state organization. The Alter headquarters also maintained that the organization workers everywhere were being successful in marshaling their forces. Pinchot and Alter both voted early, as also did George Wharton Pepper and William J. Burke. It was rumored that in the eighth ward, Penrose's old home district, that workers for ward leader Edwin A. Devlin, were distributing sample ballots to the voters marked for Pinchot.

SPLIT THREATENS IN RANKS OF MINERS

Muskogee, Oklahoma, May 16.—A split in the ranks of striking United Mine Workers through separate wage agreements threatened here today. Feeling in the convention of mine district No. 21, of Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas, was bitter as factions began a fight over a separate wage contract made at Bridgeport, Texas, wherein 300 miners accepted a decrease of fifty cents a day.

"A CONTEMPTIBLE ACT"

About 8:00 o'clock last evening the Reverend Dr. Reeve sat some boys acting suspiciously in the rear of the Sunday School Rooms of the Presbyterian Church, and upon investigation found that they had stolen the ice cream provided for the girls and boys who were having a class party in the evening. Fortunately it was discovered in time to supply the deficiency.

If the boys who committed this misdemeanor could be caught, six months in a reformatory would not be too great a punishment. If common decency is not instilled in them at home it would be well to send them where they will learn and consider twice before playing such a mean trick.

If you'll drop out some place west of Wichita some day this month and watch mother and the girls cooking for a regiment of harvest workers you'll find that farm life in the summer is not exactly a tea party.—Kansas City Star.

Brutal

During the regular pastor's summer vacation the sermons at the church were preached by well-known ministers from other churches. A list of coming attractions was posted in the vestibule. One morning, when making his announcements for the coming week, the day's incumbent mistook the slip containing the name of his immediate successor, but he supplied the information in this fashion: "On the way out you will find the preacher for next Sunday hanging up in the vestibule!"

A PRESBYTERIAN PARTY

The girls of Class 14 of the Presbyterian Sunday school together with a number of their girl and boy friends in all forty met in the recreation room of the Presbyterian Church last evening. Jane Groft and her amusement committee had prepared a very interesting program, which was beautifully carried out under the supervision of Miss Ethel Trostle, who very kindly consented to assist.

Some of the games were so very interesting and fascinating that even the invited guests, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Reeve, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil R. Bloom and Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Bridge all joined and enjoyed them. The boys cast wistful eyes at the dining room but were more than repaid when Pearl Rishell and her efficient assistants ushered them into an elaborately prepared and beautifully set luncheon. The theft of the ice cream did not dampen the enthusiasm of the refreshment committee, but fortunately a second supply of ice cream was forthcoming in ample time for the boys and girls to do justice to same.

The writer does not recollect when he has been to so delightful a party everyone entering into the spirit and each contributing to the general entertainment and amusement.

At midnight the boys and girls were all home, unless the beauty of the evening caused a long and secluded route, even the teacher caught the spirit and had the pleasure of escorting a girl home.

Great Poets

There have, of course, been many fine poets, writers of beautiful sentiments in beautiful numbers; but the supreme great poets may be counted on the fingers of the two hands. England and Scotland lead the world in great poets, having, perhaps, a half dozen, while the other countries can show hardly more than one each, and some of them not even one.

Milk Reduced to Twelve Cents Per Quart Starting May 16th

This price will remain effective for a short period of time during the summer months but will go back before fall. Milk at the present price is by far the cheapest food that the consumer buys. On the other hand milk is the least profitable of any commodity the farmer sells.

An economic problem confronts both the producer and the consumer. If the price of milk was lowered the producer would be compelled to go out of business. A scarcity would then force the price of the milk up. Milk must sell for a price that the producer will at least break even.

Do you know that:

The consumption of milk in the country averages one and a half pints per person, while in Clearfield it is slightly over one half pint to a person.

That one quart of milk is equal to four and three tenths eggs, as a source of protein and to eight and five tenths eggs or a pound of lean meat as a source of energy.

That milk at 16 cents per quart is as cheap a food as sirloin steak would be at 35.4 cents per pound, or eggs at 45 cents per dozen.

That to produce 100 pounds or 46 quarts of milk, it requires on an average 2.88 hours of labor, 33.5 pounds of grain, 45.3 pounds of hay, 11.5 pounds of other dry forage, 93.2 pounds of silage and 9.4 pounds of other succulent feed.

Almost one half the milk produced in the vicinity of Clearfield must be kept at home or sold at a sacrifice because of the drop in consumption. The price of milk does not warrant any drop in consumption when food values are compared. Increase in consumption would naturally make possible the lowering of the price of milk. Let the slogan be, USE MORE MILK AND HELP BOTH THE CONSUMER AND THE PRODUCER.

YOUTH OR MATURITY?

The question whether youth is to be preferred to a more mature period of life has furnished food for controversy from the earliest times, and fortunately, we are no nearer a final answer today than we were when Cicero glorified old age. For this is one of the few questions in which the impossibility of a definite solution need not deprive that parties to the controversy of any fun.

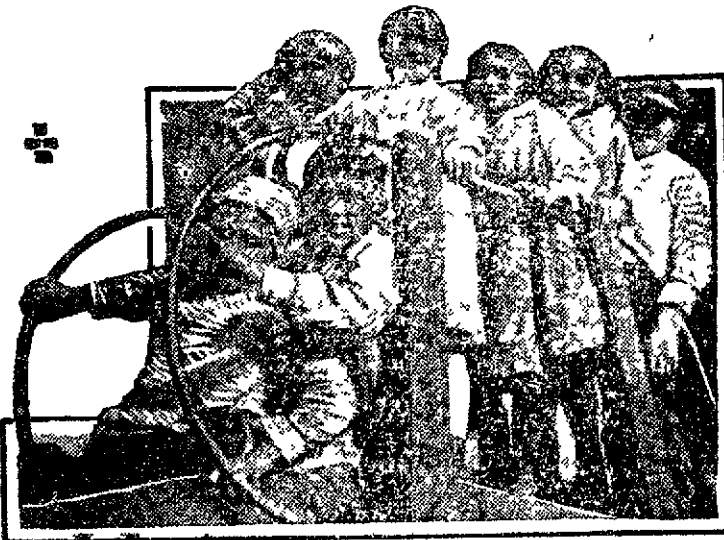

As a theme to inspire poets, youth has a shade the better of it over old age. The writers who laud the pleasures of the declining years of life seem to be somewhat on the defensive, as if they were rescuing old age from becoming considered a necessary although mild affliction. While those who tune their lyre to youth sing with the assurance of one who scents victory in the air. They tell us that for youth is still in the making, and that youth is free.

It is this last note on which a recent writer on the subject seizes in an effort to appraise the alleged freedom of youth. "Youth," he says, "is a time when one did what one didn't want to. One was helpless—much as in the army—one drifted through the years with bewilderment—often in a state of apprehension as to what was going to happen next. It is the time when the born bolt and nut manufacturer is obliged to study English poetry, when the inspired painter or musician is compelled to master Conic Sections. It is a period of introspective morbidity, of callow religious hysteria, of agonizing shyness."

The most delightful thing about this whole controversy is that anything that may be said on the subject is so tinged with personal feeling and reflects so much the individual's own experience that what may be true of him may still be wholly untrue in the case of another individual. Many grown-ups looking today at youth about them will wonder where anyone ever got the idea that these young people were afflicted with "agonizing shyness." And one may conceivably find many old people who will readily admit that if anything has got hold of youth about them it is not "calow religious hysteria."

Fortunately this theme will continue to invite writers and speakers of all sorts. We shall learn more and more about old age and youth; but unless the future is not to be interpreted by the past, every individual will gather his final solution to this question from his own personal experience.

AIDS SICK AND WOUNDED MEN

Mrs. Maud Cudworth, Milwaukee, Wis., is known to Legion Boys Throughout the Mid-West.

Sick and wounded service men of the World war undergoing treatment in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Kansas and Missouri know or are going to know before the year is out of Mrs. Maud Cudworth, Milwaukee, Wis., a national vice president of the American Legion Auxiliary.

It is the duty of local units of the Auxiliary in towns where ex-service men are in hospitals to keep the disabled men supplied with little comforts and delicacies not provided by the government. The women write letters to the patients, send them newspapers, books, magazines, fruit, bathrobes, bed sheets, candy, cigarettes and special articles that they desire. Under Mrs. Cudworth's supervision, as president of the national welfare committee of the Auxiliary, this work is being done in the middle western states over which she has supervision. Mrs. Cudworth personally visits disabled service men in the hospitals of her territory, hears their complaints and takes them up with the proper government officials.

A Legion post of 1,000 men in Milwaukee adopted Mrs. Cudworth as "Mother" because she lost her only son during the World War.

TWO KINDS OF PROFITEERS

Mrs. Henrietta Starkey, Le Sueur, Minn., Cited by Legion Boys as Most Valuable.

There were two kinds of profiteers during the war—one bad, the other good—the service men of Le Sueur, Minn., claim One of the latter lives in Le Sueur and wears a cannon-metal decoration for the work which she did during the war to aid the various drives and the service men. She is Mrs. Henrietta A. Starkey, owner of a moving picture theatre, whose constant willingness to throw open her doors to her amusement house for Liberty bond, Red Cross and other campaigns won her the plaudits of all and caused her bank account to diminish.

One of the things which Mrs. Starkey did to arouse war time morale was to show the pictures of all the boys from Le Sueur who were in the service—237 in all. Lights and heat in her theatre were all furnished gratis for war time community gatherings. The cost of the films which were of on shown at the Starkey theatre was borne by its proprietor and the funds to help the service men were augmented so much more.

Le Sueur Legionnaires hold Mrs. Starkey up as the annual who profited in their good will instead of cash.

GERMANY'S BIG LOSS IN WAR

Deaths Directly Traceable to the World Conflict Are Placed at About 12,000,000.

A study of the official records of the German war department shows that 46 men were killed and 109 wounded on the German side during every hour the World War raged. This estimate was arrived at after the archives had been probed by General Von Altrick one of the German "high command."

It is also stated in the same report that the Kaiser had a total of 13,000,000 men under arms during the war, of which 1,808,548 were either killed outright or died of wounds or sickness incident to their service. The largest figures are those of the number of Germans wounded which General Altrick places at 4,246,779.

German deaths, directly traceable to the war, are placed at about 12,000,000.

Carrying On With the American Legion

Farmers gave 200 trees and the village gave a lot to the Elizabethtown (Ind.) post of the Legion when it wanted a community home.

A "Gold Star" Legion organization, open to parents, sisters and brothers of men who gave their lives in the World War, has been proposed.

A total of $88,000,000 yearly renewable term and converted government insurance is being carried by ex-service men in the state of Washington.

War-time draft dodgers are prohibited from holding public office in New York state, a bill sponsored by the Legion to that effect having passed the general assembly.

Legion posts have been formed in Calcutta, India, New Zealand and Denmark, making a total of 11,050 posts located in practically every civilized country on the globe.

SELL GRAIN THROUGH CATTLE

Farmer Who Puts Feed Into Steers and Returns Manure to Land is One Who Succeeds.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

An investigation into methods and costs of beef production in the corn belt, conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture, covering three years, and 200 farms, shows interesting facts concerning the present status of the industry. The man who feeds cattle is marketing his crops as he feeds them, and, therefore, is justified in expecting a return equivalent to average market prices for the feeds. Even if he sometimes falls short of a return he has not necessarily experienced a loss. The corn belt farmer who sells grain sometimes receives more for his crop than the one who feeds it to cattle, but on the average, for a period of years, except in certain limited areas, the man who puts the feed into steers and returns the manure to the land is the one who comes out ahead. The conclusion is based on feeding in Iowa, Indiana, Illinois, Nebraska and Missouri.

The figures which contain the results of this investigation were obtained from a large number of farms and from several agricultural experiment stations in the Middle West. One phase of the work dealt with the cost of maintaining a herd of breeding cows for producing feeder cattle. It was found that feed represented 60 per cent of the cost of keeping a cow for one year, while the other 40 per cent was for interest, labor, equipment and incidentals.

SWINE FOR HOME SLAUGHTER

Members of Shipping Association in Indiana Solve Problem of Having Pork Supply.

Members of the live stock shipping associations in DeKalb county, Ind. have solved the problem of having fat hogs on hand just when they are ready to do their home butchering and the United States Department of Agriculture thinks the plan could be worked by other co-operatives. Many of the members of the association who do home butchering often found themselves with hogs ready for market or slaughter before the farmers were prepared for the work. Under these conditions they arrange with the manager of the association to ship their hogs to market at the time the animals are ready and later, when the farmers are prepared to butcher, they buy the desired number of hogs from the association on the regular shipping day. The hogs are sold to them for the net market price returned to the members contributing hogs to the shipment. This practice is in accommodation to the members, as often a farmer who is raising hogs for home slaughter is not ready to butcher at the time the hogs are in best condition, and he is not prepared to feed them as long as he desires.

KING CORN DISCOVERS RIVAL

Experiments at Nebraska University Show Dried Sugar Beet Pulp is Valuable Feed.

Dried sugar beet pulp will soon become a real rival of corn in livestock feeding, declares the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

This statement is based on an experiment conducted by the college during which different rations were fed 12 lots of Utah lambs 31 to each lot, for 100 days, to determine the food value of the sugar-beet by product in comparison with some of the standard rations, such as corn and alfalfa or corn, alfalfa, and cottonseed cake.

The beet pulp fed lambs fed with a profit of $8.80 per head at the end of the period, while the corn and alfalfa fed lot showed a profit of only $1.83 a head. The experiment proved, furthermore, that either corn or dried beet pulp is necessary to produce a finished lamb.

Coconut Tree's Blossom.
The blossom of the coconut tree is not unlike a head of cauliflower and is esteemed very much as the "cabbage" of the cabbage palmetto, which grows to some extent in Florida. The coconut blossom is boiled or eaten raw with a salad dressing. From the blossom of the tree the natives also make a pleasant drink, soft when first made, but strongly intoxicating when fermented, and quite often is allowed to ferment. By one treatment of this flower-liquor it is also made into a native vinegar.

PITTSBURGH WILL INVOKE BLUE LAWS

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 16—(U.P.)—The blue laws of 1796 and that crime known as "disturbing a religious meeting" will be enforced in Pittsburgh during the baseball and football seasons, District Attorney Row and announced.

Rowand's order will put a stop to a great many baseball games unless managements are content to play with out "passing the hat." Voluntary contributions commercializes the sport and makes it unlawful, it was said.

Owing to vigorous protests by clergymen, no game of baseball or football will be permitted anywhere near a church or Sunday school.

Sunday golf or tennis at the various clubs, however, will not be disturbed on the ground that clubs are private property.

OLYMPIC CHAMP TO TEACH VOLLEY BALL

Under the heading "Volley ball—the Coming Game" the following paragraph occurs in the thirty-one page Bulletin of Information from the Recreation Department of Oakland, California, "Over 100 volleyball courts are fully equipped on the various playgrounds. Both men and women as well as children enjoy this sport. Many teams are organized among factory and office people and the Department is always willing to assist in organizing more teams as they are desired. Use of volleyball courts may be had by application to any playground. Regular instruction in volleyball is given all children during play periods at school."

Volleyball equipment has been ordered by Clearfield Community Service for each of the playgrounds and it is planned to have Mel Sheppard, the famous Olympic runner who is now an organizer for athletics with National Community Service, develop volleyball as an outdoor game in Clearfield. Sheppard will be here for two weeks from May 19th.

MARY MARIE ELEANOR H. PORTER

WHEN "Just David" was published readers thought it the most adorable story of a child ever written; then appeared "Pollyanna" by the same authoress and it took the country by storm; now she has given us "Mary Marie," which is better than either.

This wonderful child was Mary to her staid, bookish, serious-minded father. To her vivacious, laughter-loving mother she was Marie; so they named her Mary Marie, and to keep peace in the family she had to develop a dual nature in keeping with the two names.

WOODLAND BOY GETS PROMOTION

The following named officer who served with distinction during the World War has recently been assigned to the 396th Infantry which is being organized in this county. This organization is a part of the 99th Division and the assignment of officers to this organization is being rapidly completed. If Congress appropriates the money for the camp this summer, the 99th Division will go to Camp Meade, Maryland for a 15 day training period from August 6th to 20th. If Congress does not appropriate funds for this camp all reserve officers who desire to do so at their own expense will go to camp from July 26 to 16th.

The 99th Division being a new division is not as far advanced in its organization as some of the organizations which have served as such during the World War. It is hoped within a short time, however, to bring this division to such a state of organization that it may properly represent western Pennsylvania.

COMMERCIAL CLUB HEARS FINE TALK

Mr. Gregory C. Kelly, of Philadelphia, Pa., General Manager Pennsylvania Compensation Rating & Inspection Bureau, spoke to the Clearfield Commercial Club at their regular meeting last night, and gave the members some illuminating side lights on the matter of industrial accidents and the Bureau's method of making rates to cover the same. He stated that time was an essential in properly gauging the risks and thereby determining the rates and that as time went on, the Bureau had found themselves able to make some decided reductions in the estimated rates applying when compensation was first put into effect in this State. Mr. Kelly expressed great pleasure at meeting the live bunch of business men of the club. He left by automobile for Tyrone, immediately after the meeting, in order to catch a fast train for Philadelphia.

Martin's Susquehanna Orchestra furnished the music and added greatly to the pleasure of the evening.

Nearly 80 members and guests were present and among matters of business, the Election Committee reported on nomination for candidates for Directors. Ballots were passed and the election resulted in the following directors being selected.

Wm. Bigler, Harry Evans, Paul T. Flaharty, Dr. J. P. Frantz, A. M. Pearce, Dr. L. F. Stewart, S. L. Warner.

Announcement was made of a joint meeting with the Rotary Club at the Dimeling at 7:00 o'clock next Monday evening, May 22nd to hear Mr. J. Edw. Rogers.

The Club voted approving the Clearfield Fire Department's inviting the Fireman's District Convention to meet in Clearfield in 1923.

A "paint up" campaign was discussed and recommended with the idea of preservation and beautifying the city.

President Warner gave the American Legion baseball team a boost and asked the Club members to get behind the team and lend their efforts to boost a good thing along, remarking that whatever the Legion attempted was worthy of a boost from the Commercial Club.

Two new members, R. J. Knipe and E. J. Holden, were voted favorably upon and the Club members were invited to lend their aid in every possible way to the Community Service activities inasmuch as the Club had unanimously endorsed the movement at their meeting April 18 and should therefore support and work for it.

A communication was received (?) from new member, Ralph Jordan, requesting permission to pass around the cigars, it being Jordan's first meeting as a member. Unanimous action was immediately taken and everybody "smoked" up at Jordan's expense.

The attendance prize, given by Mr. John E. Hess was won by Mr. Walter McMurray. Mac will probably donate a latte or drill press for the next meeting.

YOU'LL VOTE FOR OUR CIGARS

Anyone who is a smoker will vote for the good quality of our cigars and give them a great majority inasmuch as they are the best cigars that you can find anywhere for the money.

SERUM WILL PROTECT SWINE

Erroneous Impression Prevails That Hog Cholera Will Be Eradicated in Few Years.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The impression that hog cholera is a disease that will be eliminated before many years through the use of anti-hog-cholera serum has been spread throughout the country, but there is little ground for such a belief, says the United States Department of Agriculture. The serum treatment, when properly given, will protect hogs against the disease, but it does not go to the source and eliminate the germs from the country, which would be necessary if hog cholera is to become a thing of the past. It might be possible to eliminate the disease if every hog in the United States could be kept immunized all of the time, but such a measure would be impractical, if not impossible.

Hog cholera is of varying prevalence, both as to the time of the year and as to periods of several years. In the fall—October and November—there is more of this disease than in the other months. The number of hogs per thousand affected by it changes greatly from year to year, also. There have been years, such as 1887, 1897 and 1913, when cholera raged throughout the corn belt, causing great losses to farmers. In the years intervening between these high points the losses were relatively low.

Since 1913 hog cholera has been but slightly prevalent as compared with the worst years, but there is no assurance that other great waves of the disease will not occur as they did before serum was used. It has been but eight years since the last high point in losses from cholera, and the records of the Department of Agriculture show that the period between the high points of prevalence is usually 10 years or longer.

This fall there are reports of increased losses from cholera, but some increase is to be expected every fall.

Farmer Should Immunize Every Hog on First Suspicion of Cholera.

The fact that farm products have brought smaller returns in recent months has no doubt caused less serum to be bought, and many farmers have lost their herds when they might have saved them. Perhaps they could not have prevented the occurrence of the disease, but they could have prevented the hogs from dying of it.

Getting rid of hog cholera is not a simple matter, which may be appreciated when it is remembered that the infection has been carried to all parts of the United States and that the ways in which it spreads are probably not all thoroughly known. It may be many a long year before this plague of the swine industry is eliminated. The best thing to be done now is for each farmer to keep close watch over his herd, and on the first suspicion of the disease immunize every hog.

Some men now consider immunization against hog cholera as one of the regular expenses of pork production and have it done every year. They realize that it is not a cure, but only a prevention against loss. Even when serum is used there is sometimes a loss, but in nearly all cases the method is very successful. It is the only dependable means available for preventing losses from hog cholera.

Easy to Make Runts.

It is easy to make runts out of well-bred pigs by not feeding the sow well. A brood sow should receive, therefore, all the concentrates she will clean up as soon as the pigs are large enough to take the milk.

Balanced Feed for Cattle.

Corn alone is excellent for fattening cattle. Add to it, say, 10 to 20 per cent of its weight in linseed meal, cottonseed meal or tankage, and you get a ration that is still better balanced. Or feed the corn with oats and alfalfa, instead of all corn stalks and other roughage.

Time to Buy Sheep.

The present price of wool and mutton is so far out of proportion to the present price of sheep that it looks like now is the time to buy sheep.

LEGION WOMAN, MOTHER OF 21

Mrs. Jacob Caranek, Healthy and Happy, Holds Record Among Producers of Americans.

Mrs. Jacob Caranek, who runs a neat little grocery store in New Orleans and therein sells butter and eggs, bread, meats, canned corn and maybe the necessities for making those delicious Southern pecan candies, is also a legion mother of the American Legion Auxiliary. She is, at least, until some one comes along who is the mother of 22 children, to beat Mrs. Caranek's 21.

A child had come to Mrs. Caranek's house each year for 21 years when America entered the World war. Which of the 21 was dearest to her she herself could not tell, but when the two eldest boys, Joseph and Louis, went away to war the large Caranek family was cast into shadow. "What else should I do?" Mrs. Caranek questioned. "They are Americans and their country needs them. If it is a duty to raise children, it is right to make them love their country." But when Joseph and Louis came home—Joseph served overseas with the Rainbow division and fought in four big battles, while Louis fought in and around Camp Beauregard—the little grocery store could scarce contain the joyful celebration.

Mrs. Caranek came to America when she was fifteen years old, leaving her native village of Petravice in Czechoslovakia. She is forty-seven years old now and her husband is fifty-eight. The youngest child is six years old and the oldest twenty-eight. Mrs. Caranek has been to but one motion picture show in her life and she left before that one was over. She works from five in the morning until ten at night in her grocery. And she hasn't a gray hair and has never been sick but once and enjoys life.

NAMED FOR THE COMMANDER

Legion Member Pays Honor to New Son and the Leader of the American Organization.

Since the first time that America had a war, babies have come into the world named for a great or favorite general. The namesakes of Gen. George Washington are still numerous; those of Robert E. Lee and U. S. Grant are going strong into the second generation and there are not a few John J. Pershing Smiths and Joneses to vie with the less recent Deweys and Teddy Roosevelts.

One service man of the American Legion has, however, started the naming of babies after the national commander of the Legion of the year in which the child was born. The first on record is young Hanford Morris, Atlanta, Ga., born a few days after Hanford MacNider, Mason City, Ia., was elected national commander of the Legion. His father, Albert R. Morris, is a member of Atlanta post No. 1 of the Legion.

Recently an ex-soldier of Chicago went into court and asked to be allowed to drop his middle name, which was unpronounceable, he declared. The court gave permission and the service man, an enthusiastic Legionnaire, chose the name of Legion to accompany him through life.

Legion Post Stages "Movies." To satisfy curiosity-hounds, the Hollywood (Cal.) post of the American Legion stages a "model movie" every week. This saves wear and tear on the nerves of the people in Movieland, and at the same time gives tourists a view of how movies are made. Real reel directors, cameras, and stars are used in the model exhibitions—but the Legion does the work.

Consider "Star" Flag an Insult. The idea, conceived by the W. O. T. U., of putting star flags in windows of homes where no liquor is consumed, is protested by an American Legion post in San Francisco, composed entirely of newspaper men. The Legion men claim that the liquor star flag is an atrocious plagiarism of the service flag of war days, and that it is an insult to all former service men.

To Halt "Fake" Money-Raising. In an effort to stamp out the sale of publications by ex-service men who allege that the money derived is going to be used for the benefit of sick and wounded ex-service men, the American Legion national offices have warned its 11,000 posts not to sanction any sale of periodicals until the Chamber of Commerce or some like civic organization has first approved.
